President Says It Is Too Early Yet to Talk of Arbi-

CHICAGO, August 16.—Despite the issuance of the general strike order by President Small last night the situation in this city was not materially changed. All of the men who might have been affected by the general order were already out. The improvement in the Associated Press pervice was marked over that of yesterday. A number of towns on each of the West and South circuits, which did not report yesterday were receiving a full report to-day, and the volume of news handled was much greater than at any time since the walkout on Monday night.

"Nero," Nipped in Water, Gets

NEW YORK. August 16.—Guests of the Mill River Hotel, at Ridgefield. Conn., Yesterday were treated to a novel fight, when a dog, ater a hattle of half an hour, dragged a 33-pound snapping turtle from the water.

Nero, who is owned by the proprietor of the hotel, is no lap dog. He is a cross between a Newfoundland and a St. Bernard, and weighs 165 pounds. He was taking a swim in the water near the hotel, bringing in sticks and bits of wood thrown by one of the women patrons, when the turtle selzed him by the tip of the tail.

The dog turned and all the visitors saw was a churning of the waters. Then it was seen that while Nero had a turtle, the turtle also had him. Encouraged by the shouts from the veranda the dog fought his way slowly to land.

He came in circles, his teeth fastened to land. He came in circles, his teeth fastened

He came in circles, his teeth fastened in one of the turtie's flippers, and the turtie with its jaws in a death grip on the dog's tall.

It was necessary to out off the turtie's head to release the dog. Aside from the wound in his tail and scratches made by the fins of the turtie, Nero was unhurt, but a very exhausted dog.

FARE CHECK IS SENT TO PAY STANDARD'S FINE

IMMEDIATE RELIEF AND SPEEDY CURE

"My baby was about nine months old when she had resh on her face and feet. Her feet seemed to irritate her most, especially nights. They would cause her to be broken of her rest, and sometimes she would cry until she was tired out. I had always 'used Cuticura Scap myself, and had heard of so many cures by the Cuticura Remedies that I thought I would give them a trial. The improvementwas noticeable one box of the Cuticura Ointmet ther feet were well and have never troubled her since. I also used it to remove what is known as "cradle cap" from her head, and it worlded like a charm as it cleansed and healed the scalp at the same time. Now I keep Cuticura Ointment on hand in case of any little rash or insect bites, as it takes out the inflammation at once. Perhaps this may be the means of helping other suffering babies. Structure Very Dilapidated and in Need of Immediate Repairs.

At the meeting of the Committee on Street Cleaning inst night a report was submitted by the superintendent of the crematory showing that there was urgent need of immediate repairs, the walls of the structure being in such a dilapidated condition that they may tumble in at almost any time. There was more or less discussion as to the best pian to be adopted, and it was finally agreed to bring the matter to the attention of the subcommittee, with instructions to give more definite information at a later meeting. In the meantime the advisability of installing two additional incinerators will be considered by those in charge of the property.

The street flushers recently sent here for a test have been returned to the manufacturers, the committee being of the opinion that they are not suitable for local purposes. In the contract with the selling agents the city agreed to pay all the expense of moving them here from Cincinnati and back, and the cost of this will amount to about $400. It will be paid.

JUST OUT Yellow Stigma" John Harwood Bacon It is not often that a magazine has an opportunity of publishing a story so vividly fascinating as "The Yellow Stigma." It is a story of an essentially 20th-century American boy, who, through a peculiar combination of circumstances, is led to believe that his life is shadowed by the taint of the Orient. How he grows up to manhood, attends an American university, comes out into the world of today, falls in love with a charming American girl all the time pursued by this awful dread of the alien strain, his manly self-sacrifice and the final happy ending make a novel of unusual interest.

Juliet Wilbor Tompkins is always popular with the reading public, and to this issue she contributes one of her most delightul sketches, "Saving Mortimer."

Grace MacGowan Cooke has won for herself a unique place with her studies of child-life, and we have the pleasure of publishing one of her best in this issue. "The Line of Fate," by Anna A. Rogers, is the humorous story of two literary celebrities who are brought together in a peculiar way. Its climax is especially delightful. Other stories worthy of mention are "A Triumph of Tem-perament," by Kate Masterson; "October Twenty-Sixth," a delightful story of Western life by Lucia Chamberlain, and "The Coming of the Trath," by Roland Franklyn Andrews. There are more than a dozen other good stories, poems and essays.
